- * The Capstone course in the public policy program is a summative course which is designed to integrate the student's academic experience through a group service learning project. The capstone course should be taken after all of the core courses are complete and perhaps all but one of the specialization courses (which may be taken along with the capstone). Some students take their qualifying exams during the capstone semester. Students seeking exceptions may contact the course instructor. The course requires permission of the instructor to enroll.
